

Relationships. I am the Lord, and I control them. I delight in unusual combinations of people and circumstances. I can do anything I want with any relationship. Many are formed without consulting Me first. They will not bear fruit and will be burned in the rubble. The relationships that I form will last into eternity and bear much fruit. Ask Me and I will teach you and guide you into true friendship and love. I will save the brokenhearted, and establish genuine love. I am your faithful friend. Ask and come into My presence with your relationships. I am the banquet of joy peace and understanding.
