

Sometimes you do like the way you look to others declares the Lord. I made you the way that I wanted you to be. If you let Me I will use you just the way that you are. If anyone had to be perfect to serve Me no one would be serving Me at all!! I gave you just the right personality and talents to build My kingdom. I am the potter and you are the clay. Does the clay tell the potter how to make His creation? You will end up with a glorious body anyway. Can you trust Me to do the exact right thing with you? Trusting Me leads to peace. Not trusting Me leads to pain and sorrow. You are an imperfect being in an imperfect world. But I Jesus will use you perfectly as you are.
