

http://www.plaxo.com/click?key=ecard_link&src=ecard_body

Yes I am the Lord of the broken pot. I am the potter and you are the clay. I am the Lord of the smashed, broken and pieced together. I am the Lord of the forgotten, ignored and the replaced ones. I AM the Lord of the old and the useless. I know about each cracked and broken piece. I AM the Lord of this broken, senseless, and neglected world that will not last. I AM the new creation which is to come. You will be put back together in a new and captivating way. You will be perfect for My use. You will outlast all of time and shine with My glory. You see I can use only broken pots. These broken pieces are made to shine. for an eternity. You will be whole again. I AM the potter of the broken piece.