

How you need Me. But you do not realize it. You are completely helpless against the tide of evil that has come. Come now and come quickly. Cry out for Me and let yourself become desperate. Acknowledge your helplessness before Me. I am your only chance. I have incredible plans for you even now while you are on this earth. Call and cry out little ones as you never have before. You are against and cunning and wicked foe. You are wretched and lost without Me. You will soon feel the pain and sorrow of this lost world. Shed you pride. Shout the war cry and do the war dance. I will save you and do oh so much more than you could ask or imagine. Draw near to Me little one, and know My deep passionate love for My people.
