

I made you exactly how I wanted you to be. Your every flaw is meant to reveal My glory. Do not run away from who you are. Instead embrace yourself and surrender yourself to Me. I am the God and Savior of the broken and flawed. You will be made ready by My tender loving Holy fire. When you accept My Holy fire you will be perfect for My purpose. Why not choose everlasting joy peace and glory? Laughter and dancing awaits those who chose My ways. I am the lover and the laughter of the flawed and broken piece. My mercy will flow out of you and I will make you whole. I will turn you into My treasure. You will share My glory. You will shine out in the place that I have made for just you.